HAS A WORD FOR R. N. ELLIOTT

Says People Know That Gray Will Not Represent People Now if He Didn't Before

DEFENDS HIS OWN RECORD

Replies Vehemently to Charges of
Democratic Press That he is a
Traitor to His Country

"I never had the pleasure of knowing your candidates for congress in this district," declared Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, in a republican speech at the Coliseum last night. But I met Mr. Elliott, the republican candidate this afternoon, and I know that he is pure gold. Furthermore I am willing to go on his bond that he will represent the people of this district and will support the president and even more—these United States in the way that he thinks is for the best interests of the people.

"As for the democratic candidate," he continued. "I can not say so much, especially in regard to representing the people of the district." "He never did it before," said a Connersville man in the audience. "A man on my right says that he never did it before," said Senator Harding, taking up the comment from the crowd. "That ought to be sufficient for you if you know that he didn't before, that he will not if elected."

The crowd did not number over four or five hundred persons because of the many counter attractions and because of the fact that farmers are too busy in the fields to attend political meetings. Connersville sent over a delegation of fifty and also brought a band which led the parade to the Coliseum.

"There are two or three reasons why I like to come to Indiana and especially to Rushville," said the senator at the opening of his speech. "The first one is because of my fealty to the republican party. Second, because Rushville is the home of Jim Watson, one of the biggest, fairest, squarest and ablest in the United States senate. I have a notion that he put the 'Rush' in Rushville and you ought to know it."

John A. Tinsworth presided and introduced the speaker with the thought that the reputation of Ohio for providing presidents would not suffer any when Senator Harding had it to uphold.

In response to this sentiment, Senator Harding said that Indiana, too, had a similar reputation and that out of deference for his friend Senator Watson, he would be for him if Indiana was for him for president.

Senator Harding saw fit to reply to the charge of traitor which had been hurled at him by the democratic press of the district and which had been printed in the local democratic newspaper.

"One of your esteemed newspaper men," he said, "took it upon himself to call me a traitor. I am not going to be personal because I am not built that way. I am going to take him to account. I am not going to allow anyone to doubt my Americanism because nothing comes before my country. Some editors arrogate to themselves the right to criticize public men. They are just as liable to make mistakes as any human being. Some of them are more liable to do so. I know what I am talking about because I am one of them myself," he exclaimed.

Carried County
Once in 4 TimesFinly Gray Had Majority in 1912
When Republican Party Was Split, But in Other Three Campaigns he Lost This County. Republican Leaders Point to This Fact as Indication That he Will Lose County Again Because he Has Not Changed

A STATEMENT BY BOSSERT

A glimpse at the records shows that Rush county on three different occasions voted against Finly Gray, the democratic candidate for congress and on only one occasion out of the four times he has made the race for congress has he ever received a plurality from this county. Gray is making his fifth race for congress and based on the face of past returns Rush county should be on the republican side when the votes are counted next Tuesday night.

Gray was first a candidate in 1910. At that election he received a total of 2,513 votes in Rush county as compared to 2,666 for W. O. Barnard. In 1912 Gray carried Rush county, largely on account of the split in the republican party. The vote in 1912 was Gray, 2,526, William Risk, 2,053, giving Gray a majority of 473 over his republican opponent.

The year 1912 was the high point in Gray's career as far as Rush county was concerned. In 1914 the reunited republican party overcame Gray's big majority of 1912 and gave P. J. Lynch a majority of nine votes. The vote in 1914 was, Gray, 2,235; Lynch, 2,244. This was a net loss for Gray of 482 votes over 1912.

In the election last fall the normal republican majority was again rolled up, Gray losing the county by 349 votes. The vote in 1916 was: Gray, 2,581; Comstock, 2,930, giving Comstock a majority of 349.

In the light of these figures, which are official, Republican leaders here are pointing to the fact that Gray has not changed one bit in this period of six years and he is asking the voters for a seat in congress for the fifth time. He has been discredited by Rush county three times out of the last four elections, it is pointed out, and to be consistent the same thing will happen next Tuesday.

The republican leaders are urging the republican voters to go to the polls and vote and the work of getting out the vote will continue until the polls close Tuesday. Along this line Walter Bossert, district chairman, of Liberty, issued the following statement last night while here for the Senator Harding meeting:

"One way for a man to do his 'bit' is to cast his vote at the special election next Tuesday. A man who is able to vote and will not do so is a mighty poor American citizen. The Sixth District's seat in congress is vacant and it is the duty of every voter in the district to assist in the selection of a congressman, for this is no time to have a vacancy in the national house of representatives, and, in my opinion, it is no time for patriotic citizens to take a chance on sending such a man as Finly Gray to fill that vacancy—a man who refused to support the president and who did everything in his power to prevent this country from preparing for the war it is now engaged in."

Senator James E. Watson will be here over Sunday and will teach his class of women at St. Paul's M. E. Sunday school Sunday morning.

TWENTY MEN TO EXAMINE HAS OVER 700 MEMBERS

Capt. Kimball of Marion Examining
Men For Company B. Today

Capt. Kimball of Marion was here today examining recruits for Company B. He had twenty men to examine for the local company. The recruiting campaign is going along nicely, although the officers say there is no reason why they should not have the required number of men at once without delaying the matter. The advantages of the guard have been pointed out time after time, they declare and still the company lacks sixteen men of being recruited to war strength.

THREE SPEEDERS
CAUGHT BY POLICESon of L. O. Hamilton of Indianapolis, Joe Clark and John Morgan Pays Fines of $1 and Costs

THE CAMPAIGN WILL GO ON

Francis Hamilton, son of L. O. Hamilton of Indianapolis, was arrested last night for speeding and paid a fine of $1 and costs to Squire Kratzer. In the Hamilton machine was Senator Harding of Ohio, who was brought here from Indianapolis in the Hamilton auto. The driver of the machine failed to heed the warning of Policeman Seward as he came into the city on Third street. Young Hamilton continued his fast driving north in Morgan and was then arrested.

The war on speeders continues and according to the police drivers of machines will do well to keep within the speed limit. Joe Clark and John Morgan were also caught speeding last night. Both paid fines of $1 and costs to Mayor Bebout this morning.

That of Yesterday as Thirty

REGISTER EARLY, SLOGAN

A total of forty-seven persons, both men and women, registered yesterday, the first day of the registration period for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention to be held Sept. 18. The total for today promised to exceed that of yesterday. By noon today thirty people had registered, for the most part people residing in the country.

The board is urging people to register early and avoid the rush that is bound to occur towards the end of the session if the present rate of registering is maintained. It has been estimated that the total registration would run between 10,000 and 12,000 and if these figures are approached the board is going to find itself swamped. Averaging fifty registrations a day would mean that only 3,000 persons will be registered. To register 10,000 voters, the board would have to register an average of 166 a day and the start has been far under this.

KNEE CAP DISLOCATED

Clay Carmichael sustained a painful injury last night when he slipped and fell striking his knee against a flower box. The knee cap was thrown out of place and while the injury was quite painful no permanent results are expected. The accident occurred at the home of Hillary Haydon in North Main street.

Mrs. Maude Reed Wolcott has taken charge of the Victrola department of the George C. Wyatt and Co. store.

Rush County Live Stock Insurance
Co. in Prosperous Condition

The Rush County Live Stock insurance company, organized last winter, now has a membership of over 700 members and is carrying insurance amounting to $300,000, according to the officers of the company. The growth of the company has been remarkable and promises to be as great a success as the farmers fire insurance company. The losses of the company have been comparatively small thus far. The officers of the company can be found in the actuary's office on Saturdays.

on Tuesday

ONE INSPECTOR CAN'T SERVE

The county commissioners were in session for a short time today to fill any vacancies that might occur on the election boards. The law provides that the commissioners meet the Saturday before an election to do this. There was only one vacancy reported. J. H. Frazee found it impossible to serve as inspector in precinct No. 3, Rushville township and Alva Newhouse was appointed to take his place.

The inspectors were receiving their supplies at the clerk's office this afternoon. This was the last chance for anyone to vote under the absent voter's law as the inspectors took the voted ballots with them and will cast them at the election Tuesday. Twenty-five or thirty men voted under this law here.

OPEN AIR MEETING
HELD AT CARTHAGECongressman Russell of Illinois
Says Men of Experience Are
Needed in Washington

URGES GRAY BE ELECTED

Congressman Russell, of the Thirteenth Missouri district, addressed an open-air meeting at Carthage last night in behalf of Finly Gray, democratic candidate for congress. George Campbell presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Congressman Russell urged the return of Finly Gray to Washington, declaring that at this time the country was in need of men with experience and cited the fact that Gray had served three times in congress and was therefore qualified to serve the interests of this district. Representative Russell did no mud-slinging and proved to be one of the best speakers the democrats have had in the county during the brief campaign.

The democratic campaign will close tonight with an address in the court house assembly room by Congressman Rainey of Illinois.

TO SPEAK NEXT TUESDAY

Because of a political engagement at Greenfield, Senator James E. Watson did not have time to address the men at Fort Benjamin Harrison last night and will speak next Tuesday night instead. Governor Stanley was a special guest at the fort last night and the ceremonies which were followed made it so late when time for Senator Watson's speech came that he had to leave.

A nine and one-half pound boy was born to the wife of Cyrus Hilligoss this morning.

The Red Cross fair will bid good-bye tonight after a most prosperous three days. The crowd at the fair last night and all booths, the dance and the home talent show were better patronized than the opening night. The dance was in charge of the Elks last night and tonight the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, will run things on the floor.

The home talent show played to three hundred and thirty persons last night at ten cents each. A change of program will be offered, featuring Jess Pugh and the ukelele chorus of the high school. The penny supper this evening at five o'clock will be served by the Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and the Encampment.

The biggest enterprise in connection with the fair today was the farm produce exchange conducted by women of the New Salem, Plum Creek and Glenwood exchanges. The women brought in chickens, eggs, butter, canned fruit and other things that nothing but the farm can produce, far and near. It was announced today that all produce left over tonight would be auctioned off to the highest bidders between nine and ten o'clock. "Dusty" Miller will act as the auctioneer.

The Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church served lunch at noon today and were well patronized. A lunch was served last night by the Psi Iota Xi. It was all cooked by Bert Conde, a member of the committee from the Knights of Pythias lodge in general charge of the fair.

Conservative estimates this afternoon were that the fair would yield at least $500 for the Red Cross. The lunch at noon made between $52 and $53 and the Union township exchange had made about $45 by one o'clock. The Noble township exchange had made $15 this afternoon and still had much left.

Walker Township Fund is Raised to

For Sunday

Indications today were that the Red Cross War Relief fund in Rush county would be more than $16,000 and possibly as much as $17,000 in personal contributions alone, which is not counting at least two sources from which more money will be derived.

The sum of $1,402 reported as additional today from Rushville, Anderson and Walker townships swelled the approximate total of yesterday to $14,565.50.

Chairman E. B. Thomas today wired state headquarters that Rush county would have more than $15,000 when the campaign closed, which he thought was very conservative. The total of $14,565.50 is based on reports made to the county chairman and from other sources. It may be that some duplications have been made due to the announcement at the mass meeting here Thursday night of subscriptions already taken, but it is believed that the figures for today are approximately correct.

The sum of $13,163.50 was reported up to three o'clock yesterday afternoon. At that time Anderson township's fund was $3,870. Today it had been raised to $4,040 and there was still more to come in. This was $170 additional.

In addition this wonderful showing in Anderson township on the War Relief fund, the auxiliary has increased its membership to 640. This is forty per cent of the population of the township. It is considered extraordinarily good for a unit to get twenty per cent of its population into the Red Cross. The subscriptions to the War Relief fund are now more than five times the township's allotment. Chairman Thomas is making inquiry to see if Anderson township does not only have the record for membership and proportionate subscriptions in the state, but also in the United States.

Rushville township alone reported $755 additional today, making this township's contributions to date near $5,371. One canvassing team reported $200, another $245, another $125, still another another $170

ATTACK BROKEN UP BY ONE MAN

Machine Gun Operator Holds Trench by Himself When Counter Movement Started

HE KILLED 800 GERMANS

Has Just Been Awarded Legion of Honor, Highest Decoration for Private Soldier

By HENRY WOOD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, June 10 (By Mail).—Emile Alexandre Rigorne, machine gun operator, has just been awarded the Legion of Honor, the highest military decoration France can give to an ordinary soldier. Rigorne won the mark of distinction by repulsing single handed a German counter attack.

Not less than 800 Germans were killed, wounded or put to flight. Rigorne's exploit demonstrates to some extent the role the machine gun has come to play in the present war where it is without question the most formidable weapon now known. Its death dealing effects far exceed those of heavy artillery and are probably only approached by the "Soixante-quinze" guns of the French.

Following one of the French advances in the early part of the present offensive Rigorne found himself holding down a German trench in company with a dozen other machine gun men. The Germans had kept them isolated all night with a barrage fire and early in the morning had shown indication of preparing a counterattack.

With the gradual increase of the morning lights the German fire became more accurate with the result that one by one Rigorne's comrades were killed. Orders had been given to hold the trench at all costs. When Rigorne found himself the sole survivor with a heavy German counter-attack preparing a few dozen yards in front of him he gathered together the machinegun belts of his dead comrades. Altogether he found himself in possession of about 1,000 cartridges.

Adjusting his gun and placing the cartridge belts near where he would be able to feed them in himself, he waited until the first Germans were close in before opening his deadly fire. The Germans began falling. First one by one. Then as they crowded to the attack, by fives, then by twenties and fifties. Rigorne never wasted a shot. Yet, as the Germans went down by the score, still others leaped up in their places.

In the end Rigorne found himself with the last cartridge belt and a column of Germans still swarming to the assault. He fed the belt in and then took a last long sweep across the entire front of the approaching Germans. It was his last cartridge but it proved sufficient, for under his deadly aim, the entire column broke and dashed back to its trench.

For two hours Rigorne continued in his position, waiting to see what the Germans would do. Finally, he was relieved before another attack was launched, and on being conducted to the rear he was greeted by his general who announced that he was to be recommended for the Legion of Honor.

WAR PROSPERITY HITS CAPITOL

Population is Growing Rapidly and Those Having Rooms to Rent Are Getting Rich

FAMINE IN STENOGRAPHERS

Even Government Quarters Are Crowded—Never Before Was There Such a Rush

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 23.—War prosperity has hit Washington and those who have rooms to rent are getting rich. The capitol's population is growing rapidly. Every train brings its load. War talk fills the air.

The government and the various industries that have established War headquarters here will need 50,000 more clerks before the dog days, according to conservative estimates. Already there is a famine in stenographers. Uncle Sam commandeered them.

Now government offices are springing up all over the city. Department offices which for generations have been small quiet affairs have suddenly become bloated to 20 times their usual size. This means more employees. The restaurants are busier than Coney Island chowder kitchens. The street cars are almost always jammed to the guards and frequently blockaded. Apartment houses have been made into hotels—residences into apartments. In some cases startling prices are demanded for cots. All rents are upward bound.

The telephone service is swamped—the messenger service overwhelmed. Streets are crowded and the aged hackmen are investing in Liberty Bonds. Now Uncle Sam is meditating commandeering more office space and casting private firms. Its a seething situation—but—as the French say: "C'est la guerre."

ANOTHER U-BOAT IS SUNK

American Ship Arriving at American Port Today Makes Report

(By United Press.)

New York, June 23.—Another shot from an American ship has been fired and struck a submarine, an American ship reported today on reaching an Atlantic port. The fight took place June 6, one day out of Genoa.

The submarine appeared 600 yards and launched a torpedo, which the ship avoided. The gun crew immediately opened fire and shot away the submarine's periscope. The U-boat disappeared.

WAR RELIEF FUND MAY EXCEED $16,000 IN COUNTY and Chairman Thomas received a donation of $30 over the telephone. There is little doubt now but that Rushville township will pass $6,000, the goal set for it.

The sum of $477 was raised from the west half of Walker township at the meeting in Manilla last night. This raises the township's subscriptions to $1,003.75, the sum of $526.75 having been reported from the east half of the township yesterday.

Judge Will M. Sparks spoke at the Manilla meeting last night. It was held in the M. E. church. Lew Lewis, who was chairman of the campaign committee for the west precinct, decided not to do any personal solicitation, but placed the subscription cards in the hands of the people in the crowd last night and they were asked to contribute as much as they could. Howard Clawson presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

A Jackson township meeting was held at Osborn's school house last night and short addresses were made by E. B. Thomas and A. L. Gary. No money was raised but the workers districted the township and expected to canvass it thoroughly today and tomorrow.

The final War Relief meetings will be held tomorrow. There will be one at the Little Flatrock Christian church in the morning and in the afternoon another will be held at Raleigh. The closing meeting will be at Center church tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

New Commander In Chief Of the Russian Armies

General Alexis Brusiloff, who was recently appointed commander in chief of the armies of Russia, has been in command of the army on the southwestern front. He succeeds General Michael V. Alekseeff.

General Alekseeff was appointed commander in chief on April 15, soon after the retirement of Grand Duke Nicholas. At the outset of the war General Brusiloff was a corps commander under General Ruzsky, who in turn was the right hand commander of the Grand Duke Nicholas. General Brusiloff early distinguished himself by the capture of Halicz in September, 1914, which led directly to the battle of Rawa Ruska and the fall of Lemberg.

In the spring of 1916 he succeeded General Ivanoff as commander of the southern group of Russian armies and on June 4 that year began his great campaign.

He broke the Austro-German line in a score of places along a front of more than 200 miles, rolled it back a distance of from fifty to a hundred miles, captured the cities of Lutsk, Dubno, Brody, Czernowitz, Kolomea, Stanislaw and many others; overran the entire province of Bukowina and captured upward of 350,000 prisoners, hundreds of guns and vast supplies of war material.

To Keep Hair Bright.
It is very seldom indeed the hair does not darken as a child grows up. Careful washing of the hair, however, will keep it bright and silky looking even if it does darken more or less. The use of the shampoo, containing good toilet soap, a little cloudy ammonia, powdered borax and a few drops of eau de cologne or other good perfume, will keep the hair bright. It must always, however, be very thoroughly rinsed and be dried in the open air.

Mending Gloves.
Always use cotton thread instead of silk in mending gloves, as it will not pull the kid. Mend with a buttonhole stitch and the tear will scarcely be noticed.

Mother's Doll Story

May's Pet Lion

There was once upon a time a very good little girl, who owned a pet rag doll lion. His name was Leo, and, just like Mary's lamb, everywhere May went her Leo was sure to go.

One day, when they were out playing near the big road, along came a great big dog and barked at May.

Of course she was much afraid and ran like anything to get over the fence. She could not have been any more scared if it had been a big cow that came at her.

Leo ran like anything too. And when May had scrambled over the fence into the next lot Leo stood on top of the fence and waited for the great, big dog.

Now, real lions are much bigger than dogs, of course. But Leo was only a pet rag doll lion. Still, he bravely waited. And just as the big dog leaped upon the fence to jump after May, Leo nipped a little piece right out of his left ear.

"Ki-yi!" yelled the great, big dog. "I guess I will not scare the little girl any more today, after all." So he ran off home, just as fast as May and Leo did.

Undressed.
A little tot who liked to run to the door for letters had never seen a postal card. When one came in she ran to her mother with it, saying, "Oh, mamma, here is a letter without any clothes on."

A Fishy Tale.
A little fish within a brook Was sporting gayly with a hook. He nibbled once, he nibbled twice. He dilly dallied—my, how nice!

Then, what a rising up of things! And all the world seemed sprouting wings.

The water flew—likewise the fish— And next he's garnished on a dish.

Gray and Patriotism

It is not patriotism simply to vote for a man because he belongs to the president's party, regardless of his past record. At least that is not the present-day definition of patriotism. The real patriot is the man who has always stood by the policies which have made the nation what it is and which operate to make the United States respected on land or water.

Advertisements inserted in newspapers by Finly Gray's managers assert that Finly Gray has always supported the president. If he did support the president when he was in congress, the president was wrong as subsequent events have proved, because Finly Gray lacking in any real ability, gained notoriety through his opposition to the navy program.

But it was the administration's navy program which he was opposing, however. Pres. Wilson endorses him because he belongs to the democratic party. Champ Clark, who left the speakers chair and took the floor of the house to fight the president's conscription bill also endorses Gray. Clark's speech was later used by anti-conscriptionists and franked through the mails.

As a matter of fact, it has been republicans who have led the fight to carry administration war measures. We saw the president's conscription bill left an orphan in the house by the democratic leaders, and but for the strong championing of the bill by Representative Kahn of California, the measure might have failed of passage. Just now Senator Gore of Oklahoma, an administration senator, is leading the fight against the president's food control bill. Yet when these good democrats, no matter how much they oppose the president's program, get out of office and want back in again, the president endorses them and the campaign managers glibly say that they supported the president.

In the present crisis, at any rate, there isn't much doubt about a legislator's patriotism. Finly Gray would not have the nerve to espouse the "little navy" program at this hour, regardless of what his ideas may be on the subject. Therefore, the present status of his patriotism is not to be considered, but his record while in congress when he stood for the things which it has been proved were absolutely wrong and were not for the best interests of the country.

If weighed on honest scales, he will be found wanting. On the other hand, Richard N. Elliott, the republican candidate, is a man whose candidacy has met with nothing but fair and honest praise from all quarters except from some partisan newspapers which have put words into his mouth that he never uttered and which have sought to injure him because they feared his strength as compared to Gray's lamentable weakness. Strong independent newspapers both in and out of the sixth district were quick to sense Elliott's ability and his worthiness to compel the support of sixth district voters. His record as a state legislator was at once examined after his nomination and no flaw could be picked in it by the most critical. He is a man who will not refuse to donate five dollars to buy the president's daughter a wedding president if, perchance the president has another daughter who is marriagable.

Each Should Do His Share

The Red Cross War Relief fund is way oversubscribed in Rush county. The first reports from the various townships have been nearly all over the allotment for the respective districts and there is no doubt but that Rush county will go in the honor list along with those who have responded to the appeal for help quickly and substantially.

There is some danger in this optimism that has been created by the ready reply of the people who have poured out their money liberally. The people of the auxiliaries who have not reached their share may feel that the allotment for the county has been reached and therefore, there is no need for their help.

As has been stated repeatedly by Red Cross speakers, the amount of money given amounts to nothing if the heart does not go with it. Each unit must give enough to feel it in order to bring the campaign to an honorable conclusion. It does mean, however, that such a condition will appear, but it is a danger nevertheless.

War Controlling Force

The tremendous recent earnings of the Steel Corporation and its present wellnigh impregnable financial position should not be permitted to wink out of sight the fact that the Corporation's poorest year was 1914—when it failed to earn even a full dividend for its preferred stock with nothing at all for the common. That year, it will be remembered, witnessed the completion of a twelve-month of the Democratic tariff law. That year also witnessed the beginning of the European war, with the unexampled business which it brought us. The war has continued a controlling force in American commercial development. The Democratic tariff, perforce, has been set aside. But it is still on the statute books; and when the war is over there will be more years for the Steel Corporation like 1914 unless that law is changed. And not for the Steel Corporation only, but for all American industries.

King George invited the enlisted men with Pershing to visit Buckingham palace. His Majesty was honored.

The Poison of German Intrigue —Wilson's Antidote

German intrigue in America as well as in Russia, in the form of veiled peace proposals, which, to use the words of President Wilson, "aim to deceive all those throughout the world who stand for the rights of peoples and the self-government of nations," is the subject of the leading article in this week's LITERARY DIGEST, dated June 23d.

The article, using the President's note to the Russian people and his Flag Day address as a basis, makes very clear just what America is fighting for and the peace that must come. It throws the light of public opinion in this country, as shown by the newspaper press, upon the President's words, and shows that they are not only a warning to the Russians to avoid the fatal error of deserting the Allies, but, in the opinion of the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, they are "also a warning to Pro-German neutrals and to Pro-Germans in this country." The article also gives answer to those who favor the making of a separate peace by Russia.

Among other topics of almost equal interest and importance which are treated in this issue of the "Digest," are:

All News-Roads Lead At Last to "The Digest"

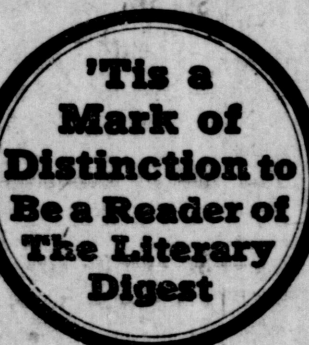

Did you ever stop to think of the path your news travels to reach you, of how an event no sooner happens than the story of it speeds away, by word of mouth, by telegraph or telephone, is flashed through submarine cables or flies free in air on the wings of the wireless to the office of some newspaper, where it is translated into cold type, rushed through the presses, and hurried forth again by motor-car, by boat, by rail, on horseback, and, in some remote districts, on camel-back, on sledges, or by canoe, to reach your door?

All this is wonderful enough, but when you reflect that the published news of the whole world comes to the editors of THE LITERARY DIGEST, and is put by them through an impartial sieve, which retains only the choicest part, uncolored and unchanged in the least degree, then your wonder grows. For your use and benefit the pith of all the world's events is concentrated without bias in the columns of THE DIGEST, week by week. Be advised and avail yourself to-day of this greatest of modern news-recorders.

CURRENT COMMENT

(Shelbyville Republican)

The intent of these letters is to "square" Finly Gray's course and his record in the congress. It is very clearly noted that the letter to President Wilson makes inquiry as to Mr. Gray's support "DURING THE PAST TWO YEARS." There is no man in the whole United States who can make the English language say what it does not mean in an easier manner than Woodrow Wilson. He is the greatest expert on earth in that craft. Note his reply to the letter: He ignores the question concerning Gray's support during "the past two years" and in his reply says "he has given the present administration the most generous and cordial support."

The facts are that President Wilson is absolutely silent as to the attitude of Finly Gray during the "last two years" and in order to avoid giving a direct answer as to Gray's record President Wilson says Gray has given the PRESENT ADMINISTRATION his cordial support.

Finly Gray has had nothing to do with the PRESENT ADMINISTRATION except as a citizen. His term in congress expired as the "present administration" came in. President Wilson has begged the entire question and did not answer at all the question put square to him in the letter sent by Bent Wilson. The letter of President Wilson has been outographed and is being sent to the voters of the district by thousands with the hope that its misleading phraseology will deceive the men of the district into voting for Gray. There is no other interpretation that can be placed on these two letters. The reply of President Wilson is as misleading as words can possibly make it.

The letter referred to are the ones published in an advertisement in the Daily Republican yesterday.

Senreco

The double-service tooth paste, keeps teeth clean AND GUMS HEALTHY.

Keeping the gums healthy and the mouth sweet is very important to health; more teeth are lost through the loosening of the tissue that holds the teeth in place than from decay.

Dental science to-day demands that a tooth paste must keep the gums healthy as well as clean the teeth.

Senreco was formulated to meet this requirement. Hundreds of dentists are prescribing and using Senreco because they have found that it does measure up to that standard.

SENRECO IS A WONDERFUL CLEANSER.

In addition to its remedial properties Senreco is a wonderful cleanser; acts directly on the mucin film, the basis of tartar; leaves the mouth cool and clean-feeling. As some one has expressed it—Senreco gives one a new idea on mouth cleanliness.

Get a tube to-day at your drugstore or toilet counter—enjoy the healthy, cleanly feeling its use gives your mouth and gums. Notice how brilliantly white Senreco makes your teeth. It performs this two-fold service for you and yet costs no more than the ordinary, old-fashioned tooth paste that simply cleans the teeth and leaves a pleasant taste—25 cents for a large 2 ounce tube.

A NECESSITY

Mrs. Collier Says Could Not Keep House Without Black-Draught.

Hardin, Mo.—Mrs. J. W. Collier, of this town, who knows from experience of the merit of Black-Draught Liver Medicine, has following to say for publication: "I want to let everybody know that I have used Theodor's Black-Draught for many years, and it is just what is claimed for it. I am never without Black-Draught, and really I couldn't keep house without it. Whenever I feel bad, I take a small dose, and feel better right away. I advise everybody who suffers from liver or stomach trouble to use Black-Draught Liver Medicine."

For three-quarters of a century (75 years), Theodor's Black-Draught has been regulating irregularities of the liver, stomach and bowels, and has long been recognized as the standard remedy. It is a fixture in thousands of homes as the main stay of the family medicine chest.

If you have not tried it, get a package from your nearest dealer, today. He sells it in 25c and $1.00 packages, making it cost you only one cent a dose. NCB3

ADVISES NURSE
TO STAY AT HOME

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr., Says America Will Need Those in Public Health Service

INCREASED DEMANDS HERE

Must Not Consider Themselves Slackers by Sticking to Positions in This Country

(By United Press.)

New York, June 23.—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr., head of the American Ambulance Hospital in Paris strongly urges public health nurses in the United States to apply to their profession the principles of selective conscriptions during the war. She advises them not to throw up their positions here for the sake of undertaking work abroad.

"One of the great needs of America," she said, "will be for public health nursing. The organizations which are engaged in this work, instead of being weakened by loss of membership should be strengthened to meet the increased demands which will be made upon them. Trained and experienced nurses who are now taking care of women, children and tubercular patients in their homes and in dispensaries can do no greater work for the country and for humanity than by 'remaining on their jobs.'"

They must not consider themselves slackers or feel that they are lacking in patriotism if they stick to their daily round of duties. On the contrary it would be absolutely wrong for them to give up their work, and jump at the first chance which offers for war service abroad.

Somebody has to take care of the women and children while the men are at the front. It is irrational for those who take care of them, and who know and understand their needs, to fly off to some other place and work and leave them at the mercy of inexperienced workers. We all know that war breaks down home conditions. Sickness and poverty follow in its wake and there are a thousand and one ills, which have to be met and overcome. Who can do this better than the public health nurse who belongs to a well organized group of workers which is able to combat just such conditions?"

Mrs. Vanderbilt cited her own experience in Paris at the beginning of the war when her first impulse was to close the Vanderbilt Dispensary to women and children and devote it to the care of wounded soldiers.

"On second thought," she said, "I realized that would be a mistake just because everybody was doing the same thing. I never regretted my more mature judgment. In a short time our attendance increased from 115 to 250. I believe we saved any number of the future citizens of France by simply thinking twice and sticking to our original work."

MANY CHICKS ARE LOST ANNUALLY

Bulletin From Purdue Says Improper Feeding Causes Heavy Loss Each Year

SHOULD NOT FEED TOO EARLY

(By United Press.)

Lafayette, Ind., June 23.—Millions of chicks are lost every year through improper feeding," says a bulletin issued today by Purdue experts, giving advice on the best methods of feeding.

"Chicks should not be fed until they are forty-eight to sixty hours of age, because they are provided with food from the mother egg to last for that length of time. The first feed should be grain, fed about five times each day in amounts that will be quickly consumed. mash of bran and shorts is needed to insure rapid growth, and full feathering. By the time they are two weeks old, the chicks should have all they want and be fed several times a day.

"Sometime the ration can be varied by feeding table scraps and oat meal. It is always necessary to feed green stuff, such as a piece of sod, supply spaded or plowed fields for a chick range and a pile of ashes should be available."

OTHER CAMPS TO FOLLOW PLAN

Scheme for Recreation of Soldiers at Ft. Harrison to be Copied Over Country

WILL FOLLOW MEN TO FRANCE

Letters, Cards and Trinkets to Let Them Know They Are Remembered is Plan

(By United Press.)

Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., June 23.—The scheme for recreation for soldiers which has been worked out at Ft. Harrison, is being copied at every point of mobilization in the country and will be carried out more thoroughly at the camps when the conscription army is mobilized this winter.

But this is a small part of the work, according to James Edward Rogers who is directing the recreation plans at this post. When the men get to France, and only then, will it be determined how thorough and successful this work has been. That's when the real test will come and when a soldier's time—life and joy will be measured by the length of time from one mail to another.

"Follow your man to France," is the advice of war recreation experts. "Follow him with letters, with trinkets, with cards, with anything that will let him know that you back at home have not forgotten that he is fighting for you and your country. Especially be sure that not a Christmas, Thanksgiving or other holiday goes by without him knowing that his friends are on the job back home."

In order to do this successfully, friends and those interested in men in camps are urged to get in touch with them now for when they leave for Europe it will be too late. If these ties are not established by that time, they will probably be broken for as long as the man will be in Europe.

Get in touch with your man now and do not lose him, is the warning.

SHOWS HOW REPUBLICANS SUPPORTED PRESIDENT

he flourished a printer's rule, the insignia of the trade.

"The editor of your democratic paper," he continued, "imposed on your intelligence when he called me

a traitor and then printed what I said. What I said was that there was only one thing by which we could justify our entrance into the war, and that was to defend America's right. I said that it was not up to the United States to force democracy onto the world; that it were better that by our proof that democracy could defend itself, we made the ideal example which should enlist the devotion of the world to the cause of democracy. That was the substance of my thought.

"I said it then in the senate, I say it now and I will repeat it again and again. It is none of our business what form of government any nation has so long as that nation respects the rights of other nations. It will be as much of a task to combat the enemy at home as abroad."

Senator Harding defended the universal military service law as honest and just and then returned to the discussion of newspaper criticism. He recalled that democratic publishers were deeply stirred, apparently, when a republican saw fit to criticize the president, but that none of them commented on the fact that a republican minority made possible the defeat of the president's newspaper censorship bill. They did not criticize republicans for opposing the president in this respect he said.

"You may wonder why congress has almost abdicated its power as one of the three essential branches of government," he continued, "It is because congress is becoming a sort of rubber-stamp affair. I am not slamming the president. I have been standing by the president myself."

Senator Harding recalled how Bryan visited his home in the last election and said Harding was a decent fellow, but that the people could not afford to elect him because the president wanted men who would support him. Senator Harding said that he was in Washington supporting the president when Bryan was resigning as secretary of state. I am a republican and a partisan, but I am an American first, he declared.

Senator Harding recalled also that after Bryan had resigned a former republican president was standing by Wilson when he offered to take a volunteer regiment of 100,000 men to France. He said he was not criticizing the president, but that he was sorry the president had not seen fit to accept Roosevelt's offer, because if Roosevelt had led four divisions to France, he would have taken cheer to the allies and would set aflame the American spirit and popularized the war as nothing else would have done.

Senator Harding then showed by repeated examples how the republican minority in the house and senate had made possible the passage of the president's war measures in spite of the opposition of the president's own leaders. He cited the resolution to arm American merchant vessels; the McLeary resolution to keep Americans off the sea; the war resolution and the conscription bill, all of which would not have been passed but for republican support and leadership.

"The president would be a broken reed tonight," he said with some vim, "were it not for the republican minority in the house and senate."

In conclusion, Senator Harding showed the development of the United States a maritime nation until she became the leading one in the world, and how later, due to the continued agitation of the democratic party against ship subsidy, maritime interests had declined until before the war opened the greatest exporting country in the world was shipping practically all of its goods in foreign bottoms.

"A few days since," he continued, "because of the decline of the merchant marine due to democratic opposition, we had to appropriate $700,000,000 of the people's money to build ships to carry food to our soldiers and allies."

Senator Harding showed the great need of an adequate tariff after the war and the necessity of electing a man who believes in those principles.

DEFENDS HIS OWN RECORD

Replies Vehemently to Charges of
Democratic Press That he is a
Traitor to His Country

"I never had the pleasure of knowing your candidates for congress in this district," declared Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio, in a republican speech at the Coliseum last night. But I met Mr. Elliott, the republican candidate this afternoon, and I know that he is pure gold. Furthermore I am willing to go on his bond that he will represent the people of this district and will support the president and even more—these United States in the way that he thinks is for the best interests of the people.

"As for the democratic candidate," he continued. "I can not say so much, especially in regard to representing the people of the district."

"He never did it before," said a Connorsville man in the audience.

"A man on my right says that he never did it before," said Senator Harding, taking up the comment from the crowd. "That ought to be sufficient for you if you know that he didn't before, that he will not if elected."

The crowd did not number over four or five hundred persons because of the many counter attractions and because of the fact that farmers are too busy in the fields to attend political meetings. Connorsville sent over a delegation of fifty and also brought a band which led the parade to the Coliseum.

"There are two or three reasons why I like to come to Indiana and especially to Rushville," said the senator at the opening of his speech. "The first one is because of my fealty to the republican party. Second, because Rushville is the home of Jim Watson, one of the biggest, fairest, squarest and ablest in the United States senate. I have a notion that he put the 'Rush' in Rushville and you ought to know it."

John A. Tinsworth presided and introduced the speaker with the thought that the reputation of Ohio for providing presidents would not suffer any when Senator Harding had it to uphold.

In response to this sentiment, Senator Harding said that Indiana, too, had a similar reputation and that out of deference for his friend Senator Watson, he would be for him if Indiana was for him for president.

Senator Harding saw fit to reply to the charge of traitor which had been hurled at him by the democratic press of the district and which had been printed in the local democratic newspaper.

"One of your esteemed newspaper men," he said, "took it upon himself to call me a traitor. I am not going to be personal because I am not built that way. I am going to take him to account. I am not going to allow anyone to doubt my Americanism because nothing comes before my country. Some editors arrogate to themselves the right to criticize public men. They are just as liable to make mistakes as any human being. Some of them are more liable to do so. I know what I am talking about because I am one of them myself," he exclaimed, as

Once in 4 Times

Finly Gray Had Majority in 1912 When Republican Party Was Split, But in Other Three Campaigns he Lost This County. Republican Leaders Point to This Fact as Indication That he Will Lose County Again Because he Has Not Changed

A glimpse at the records shows that Rush county on three different occasions voted against Finly Gray, the democratic candidate for congress and on only one occasion out of the four times he has made the race for congress has he ever received a plurality from this county. Gray is making his fifth race for congress and based on the face of past returns Rush county should be on the republican side when the votes are counted next Tuesday night.

Gray was first a candidate in 1910. At that election he received a total of 2,513 votes in Rush county as compared to 2,666 for W. O. Barnard. In 1912 Gray carried Rush county, largely on account of the split in the republican party. The vote in 1912 was Gray, 2,526, William Risk, 2,053, giving Gray a majority of 473 over his republican opponent.

The year 1912 was the high point in Gray's career as far as Rush county was concerned. In 1914 the reunited republican party overcame Gray's big majority of 1912 and gave P. J. Lynch a majority of nine votes. The vote in 1914 was, Gray, 2,235; Lynch, 2,244. This was a net loss for Gray of 482 votes over 1912.

In the election last fall the normal republican majority was again rolled up, Gray losing the county by 349 votes. The vote in 1916 was: Gray, 2,581; Comstock, 2,930, giving Comstock a majority of 349.

In the light of these figures, which are official, Republican leaders here are pointing to the fact that Gray has not changed one bit in this period of six years and he is asking the voters for a seat in congress for the fifth time. He has been discredited by Rush county three times out of the last four elections, it is pointed out, and to be consistent the same thing will happen next Tuesday.

The republican leaders are urging the republican voters to go to the polls and vote and the work of getting out the vote will continue until the polls close Tuesday. Along this line Walter Bossert, district chairman, of Liberty, issued the following statement last night while here for the Senator Harding meeting:

"One way for a man to do his 'bit' is to cast his vote at the special election next Tuesday. A man who is able to vote and will not do so is a mighty poor American citizen. The Sixth District's seat in congress is vacant and it is the duty of every voter in the district to assist in the selection of a congressman, for this is no time to have a vacancy in the national house of representatives, and, in my opinion, it is no time for patriotic citizens to take a chance on sending such a man as Finly Gray to fill that vacancy—a man who refused to support the president and who did everything in his power to prevent this country from preparing for the war it is now engaged in."

Senator James E. Watson will be here over Sunday and will teach his class of women at St. Paul's M. E. Sunday school Sunday morning.

The recruiting campaign is going along nicely, although the officers say there is no reason why they should not have the required number of men at once without delaying the matter. The advantages of the guard have been pointed out time after time, they declare and still the company lacks sixteen men of being recruited to war strength.

THE CAMPAIGN WILL GO ON

Francis Hamilton, son of L. O. Hamilton of Indianapolis, was arrested last night for speeding and paid a fine of $1 and costs to Squire Kratzer. In the Hamilton machine was Senator Harding of Ohio, who was brought here from Indianapolis in the Hamilton auto. The driver of the machine failed to heed the warning of Policeman Seward as he came into the city on Third street. Young Hamilton continued his fast driving north in Morgan and was then arrested.

The war on speeders continues and according to the police drivers of machines will do well to keep within the speed limit. Joe Clark and John Morgan were also caught speeding last night. Both paid fines of $1 and costs to Mayor Rebout this morning.

REGISTER EARLY, SLOGAN

A total of forty-seven persons, both men and women, registered yesterday, the first day of the registration period for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention to be held Sept. 18. The total for today promises to exceed that of yesterday. By noon today thirty people had registered, for the most part people residing in the country.

The board is urging people to register early and avoid the rush that is bound to occur towards the end of the session if the present rate of registering is maintained. It has been estimated that the total registration would run between 10,000 and 12,000 and if these figures are approached the board is going to find itself swamped. Averaging fifty registrations a day, would mean that only 3,000 persons will be registered. To register 10,000 voters, the board would have to register an average of 166 a day and the start has been far under this.

The officers of the company can be found in the actuary's office on Saturdays.

ONE INSPECTOR CAN'T SERVE

The county commissioners were in session for a short time today to fill any vacancies that might occur on the election boards. The law provides that the commissioners meet the Saturday before an election to do this. There was only one vacancy reported. J. H. Frazee found it impossible to serve as inspector in precinct No. 3, Rushville township and Alva Newhouse was appointed to take his place.

The inspectors were receiving their supplies at the clerk's office this afternoon. This was the last chance for anyone to vote under the absent voter's law as the inspectors took the voted ballots with them and will cast them at the election Tuesday. OPEN AIR MEETING
Says Men of Experience Are
Needed in Washington

URGES GRAY BE ELECTED

Congressman Russell, of the Thirteenth Missouri district, addressed an open-air meeting at Carthage last night in behalf of Finly Gray, democratic candidate for congress. George Campbell presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Congressman Russell urged the return of Finly Gray to Washington, declaring that at this time the country was in need of men with experience and cited the fact that Gray had served three times in congress and was therefore qualified to serve the interests of this district. Representative Russell did no mud-slinging and proved to be one of the best speakers the democrats have had in the county during the brief campaign.

The democratic campaign will close tonight with an address in the court house assembly room by Congressman Rainey of Illinois.

TO SPEAK NEXT TUESDAY

Because of a political engagement at Greenfield, Senator James E. Watson did not have time to address the men at Fort Benjamin Harrison last night and will speak next Tuesday night instead. Governor Stanley was a special guest at the fort last night and the ceremonies which were followed made it so late when time for Senator Watson's speech came that he had to leave.

A nine and one-half pound boy was born to the wife of Cyrus Haggos this morning.

All booths and home talent show will be open at night as usual.

The Red Cross fair will bid good-bye tonight after a most prosperous three days. The crowd at the fair last night and all booths, the dance and the home talent show were better patronized than the opening night. The dance was in charge of the Elks last night and tonight the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, will run things on the floor.

The home talent show played to three hundred and thirty persons last night at ten cents each. A change of program will be offered, featuring Jess Pugh and the ukulele chorus of the high school. The penny supper this evening at five o'clock will be served by the Odd Fellows, Rebekahs and the Encampment.

The biggest enterprise in connection with the fair today was the farm produce exchange conducted by women of the New Salem, Plum Creek and Glenwood exchanges. The women brought in chickens, eggs, butter, canned fruit and other things that nothing but the farm can produce, far and near. It was announced today that all produce left over tonight would be auctioned off to the highest bidders between nine and ten o'clock. "Dusty" Miller will act as the auctioneer.

The Ladies Aid society of the First Presbyterian church served lunch at noon today and were well patronized. A lunch was served last night by the Psi Iota Xi. It was all cooked by Bert Conde, a member of the committee from the Knights of Pythias lodge in general charge of the fair.

Conservative estimates this afternoon were that the fair would yield at least $500 for the Red Cross. The lunch at noon made between $52 and $53 and the Union township exchange had made about $45 by one o'clock. The Noble township exchange had made $15 this afternoon and still had much left.

Walker Township Fund is Raised to

For Sunday

Indications today were that the Red Cross War Relief fund in Rush county would be more than $16,000 and possibly as much as $17,000 in personal contributions alone, which is not counting at least two sources from which more money will be derived.

The sum of $1,402 reported as additional today from Rushville, Anderson and Walker townships swelled the approximate total of yesterday to $14,565.50.

Chairman E. B. Thomas today wired state headquarters that Rush county would have more than $15,000 when the campaign closed, which he thought was very conservative. The total of $14,565.50 is based on reports made to the county chairman and from other sources. It may be that some duplications have been made due to the announcement at the mass meeting here Thursday night of subscriptions already taken, but it is believed that the figures for today are approximately correct.

The sum of $13,163.50 was reported up to three o'clock yesterday afternoon. At that time Anderson township's fund was $3,870. Today it had been raised to $4,040 and there was still more to come in. This was $170 additional.

In addition this wonderful showing in Anderson township on the War Relief fund, the auxiliary has increased its membership to 640. This is forty per cent of the population of the township. It is considered extraordinarily good for a unit to get twenty per cent of its population into the Red Cross. The subscriptions to the War Relief fund are now more than five times the township's allotment. Chairman Thomas is making inquiry to see if Anderson township does not only have the record for membership and proportionate subscriptions in the state, but also in the United States.

Rushville township alone reported $755 additional today, making this township's contributions to date near $5,371. One canvassing team reported $200, another $245, another $125, still another another $170

ATTACK BROKEN UP BY ONE MAN

Machine Gun Operator Holds Trench by Himself When Counter Movement Started

HE KILLED 800 GERMANS

Has Just Been Awarded Legion of Honor, Highest Decoration for Private Soldier

By HENRY WOOD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, June 10 (By Mail).—Emile Alexandre Rigorne, machine gun operator, has just been awarded the Legion of Honor, the highest military decoration France can give to an ordinary soldier. Bigorne won the mark of distinction by repulsing single handed a German counter attack.

Not less than 800 Germans were killed, wounded or put to flight.

Bigorne's exploit demonstrates to some extent the role the machine gun has come to play in the present war where it is without question the most formidable weapon now known. Its death dealing effects far exceed those of heavy artillery and are probably only approached by the "soixante-quinze" guns of the French.

Following one of the French advances in the early part of the present offensive Bigorne found himself holding down a German trench in company with a dozen other machine gun men. The Germans had kept them isolated all night with a barrage fire and early in the morning had shown indication of preparing a counterattack.

With the gradual increase of the morning lights the German fire became more accurate with the result that one by one Rigorne's comrades were killed. Orders had been given to hold the trench at all costs. When Rigorne found himself the sole survivor with a heavy German counter-attack preparing a few dozen yards in front of him he gathered together the machinegun belts of his dead comrades. Altogether he found himself in possession of about 1,000 cartridges.

Adjusting his gun and placing the cartridge belts near where he would be able to feed them in himself, he waited until the first Germans were close in before opening his deadly fire. The Germans began falling. First one by one. Then as they crowded to the attack, by fives, then by twenties and fifties. Rigorne never wasted a shot. Yet, as the Germans went down by the score, still others leaped up in their places.

In the end Rigorne found himself with the last cartridge belt and a column of Germans still swarming to the assault. He fed the belt in and then took a last long sweep across the entire front of the approaching Germans. It was his last cartridge but it proved sufficient, for under his deadly aim, the entire column broke and dashed back to its trench.

For two hours Bigorne continued in his position, waiting to see what the Germans would do. Finally, he was relieved before another attack was launched, and on being conducted to the rear he was greeted by his general who announced that he was to be recommended for the Legion of Honor.

WAR PROSPERITY HITS CAPITOL

Population is Growing Rapidly and Those Having Rooms to Rent Are Getting Rich

FAMINE IN STENOGRAPHERS

Even Government Quarters Are Crowded—Never Before Was There Such a Rush

(By United Press.)

Washington, June 23.—War prosperity has hit Washington and those who have rooms to rent are getting rich. The capitol's population is growing rapidly. Every train brings its load. War talk fills the air.

The government and the various industries that have established War headquarters here will need 50,000 more clerks before the dog days, according to conservative estimates. Already there is a famine in stenographers. Uncle Sam commandeered them.

Now government offices are springing up all over the city. Department offices which for generations have been small quiet affairs have suddenly become bloated to 20 times their usual size. This means more employees. The restaurants are busier than Coney Island chowder kitchens. The street cars are almost always jammed to the guards and frequently blockaded. Apartment houses have been made into hotels—residences into apartments. In some cases startling prices are demanded for cots. All rents are upward bound.

The telephone service is swamped—the messenger service overwhelmed. Streets are crowded and the aged hackmen are investing in Liberty Bonds. Now Uncle Sam is meditating commandeering more office space and casting private firms. Its a seething situation—but—as the French say: "C'est la guerre."

New Commander In Chief Of the Russian Armies

General Alexis Brusiloff, who was recently appointed commander in chief of the armies of Russia, has been in command of the army on the southwestern front. He succeeds General Michael V. Alexieff.

General Alexieff was appointed commander in chief on April 15, soon after the retirement of Grand Duke Nicholas. At the outset of the war General Brusiloff was a corps commander under General Ruzsky, who in turn was the right hand commander of the Grand Duke.

GENERAL ALEXIS BRUSILOFF.

Duke Nicholas. General Brusiloff early distinguished himself by the capture of Hultz in September, 1914, which led directly to the battle of Tawa Ruska and the fall of Lemberg.

In the spring of 1916 he succeeded General Ivanoff as commander of the southern group of Russian armies and on June 4 that year began his great campaign.

He broke the Austro-German line in a score of places along a front of more than 200 miles, rolled it back a distance of from fifty to a hundred miles, captured the cities of Lutsk, Dubno, Brody, Czernowitz, Kolomea, Stanislaw and many others; overran the entire province of Bukovina and captured upward of 350,000 prisoners, hundreds of guns and vast supplies of war material.

American Ship Arriving at American Port Today Makes Report

(By United Press.)

New York, June 23.—Another shot from an American ship has been fired and struck a submarine, an American ship reported today on reaching an Atlantic port. The fight took place June 6, one day out of Genoa.

The submarine appeared 600 yards and launched a torpedo, which the ship avoided. The gun crew immediately opened fire and shot away the submarine's periscope. The U-boat disappeared.

To Keep Hair Bright.

It is very seldom indeed the hair does not darken as a child grows up. Careful washing of the hair, however, will keep it bright and silky looking even if it does darken more or less. The use of the shampoo, containing good toilet soap, a little cloudy ammonia, powdered borax and a few drops of can do cologne or other good perfume, will keep the hair bright. It must always, however, be very thoroughly rinsed and be dried in the open air.

Mending Gloves.

Always use cotton thread instead of silk in mending gloves, as it will not pull the kid. Mend with a buttonhole stitch and the tear will scarcely be noticed.

Mother's Doll Story

May's Pet Lion

There was once upon a time a very good little girl, who owned a pet rag doll lion. His name was Leo, and, just like Mary's lamb, everywhere May went her Leo was sure to go.

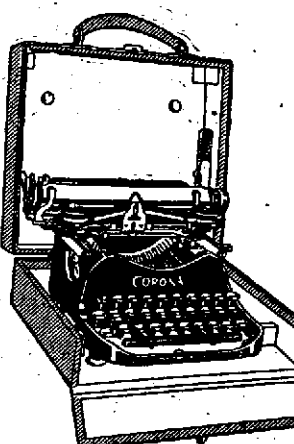

One day, when they were out playing near the big road, along came a great big dog and barked at May.

Of course she was much afraid and ran like anything to get over the fence. She could not have been any more scared if it had been a big cow that came at her.

Leo ran like anything too. And when May had scrambled over the fence into the next lot Leo stood on top of the fence and waited for the great, big dog.

Now, real lions are much bigger than dogs, of course. But Leo was only a pet rag doll lion. Still, he bravely waited. And just as the big dog leaped upon the fence to jump after May, Leo nipped a little piece right out of his left ear.

"Ki-yi!" yelled the great, big dog. "I guess I will not scare the little girl any more today, after all." So he ran off home, just as fast as May and Leo did.

Gray and Patriotism

It is not patriotism simply to vote for a man because he belongs to the president's party, regardless of his past record. At least that is not the present-day definition of patriotism. The real patriot is the man who has always stood by the policies which have made the nation what it is and which operate to make the United States respected on land or water. Advertisements inserted in newspapers by Finly Gray's managers assert that Finly Gray has always supported the president. If he did support the president when he was in congress, the president was wrong as subsequent events have proved, because Finly Gray lacking in any real ability, gained notoriety through his opposition to the navy program. But it was the administration's navy program which he was opposing, however. Pres. Wilson endorses him because he belongs to the democratic party. Champ Clark, who left the speakers chair and took the floor of the house to fight the president's conscription bill also endorses Gray. Clark's speech was later used by anti-conscriptionists and franked through the mails.

As a matter of fact, it has been republicans who have led the fight to carry administration war measures. We saw the president's conscription bill left an orphan in the house by the democratic leaders, and but for the strong championing of the bill by Representative Kahn of California, the measure might have failed of passage. Just now Senator Gore of Oklahoma, an administration senator, is leading the fight against the president's food control bill. Yet when these good democrats, no matter how much they oppose the president's program, get out of office and want back in again, the president endorses them and the campaign managers glibly say that they supported the president.

In the present crisis, at any rate, there isn't much doubt about a legislator's patriotism. Finly Gray would not have the nerve to espouse the "little navy" program at this hour, regardless of what his ideas may be on the subject. Therefore, the present status of his patriotism is not to be considered, but his record while in congress when he stood for the things which it has been proved were absolutely wrong and were not for the best interests of the country. If weighed on honest scales, he will be found wanting. On the other hand, Richard N. Elliott, the republican candidate, is a man whose candidacy has met with nothing but fair and honest praise from all quarters except from some partisan newspapers which have put words into his mouth that he never uttered and which have sought to injure him because they feared his strength as compared to Gray's lamentable weakness. Strong independent newspapers both in and out of the sixth district were quick to sense Elliott's ability and his worthiness to compel the support of sixth district voters. His record as a state legislator was at once examined after his nomination and no flaw could be picked in it by the most critical. He is a man who will not refuse to donate five dollars to buy the president's daughter a wedding present if, perchance the president has another daughter who is marriagable.

Each Should Do His Share

The Red Cross War Relief fund is way oversubscribed in Rush county. The first reports from the various townships have been nearly all over the allotment for the respective districts and there is no doubt but that Rush county will go in the honor list along with those who have responded to the appeal for help quickly and substantially.

There is some danger in this optimism that has been created by the ready reply of the people who have poured out their money liberally. The people of the auxiliaries who have not reached their share may feel that the allotment for the county has been reached and therefore, there is no need for their help.

As has been stated repeatedly by Red Cross speakers, the amount of money given amounts to nothing if the heart does not go with it. Each unit must give enough to feel it in order to bring the campaign to an honorable conclusion. It does mean, however, that such a condition will appear, but it is a danger nevertheless.

War Controlling Force

The tremendous recent earnings of the Steel Corporation and its present wellnigh impregnable financial position should not be permitted to wink out of sight the fact that the Corporation's poorest year was 1914—when it failed to earn even a full dividend for its preferred stock with nothing at all for the common. That year, it will be remembered, witnessed the completion of a twelve-month of the Democratic tariff law. That year also witnessed the beginning of the European war, with the unexampled business which it brought us. The war has continued a controlling force in American commercial development. The Democratic tariff, perforce, has been set aside. But it is still on the statute books; and when the war is over there will be more years for the Steel Corporation like 1914 unless that law is changed. And not for the Steel Corporation only, but for all American industries.

King George invited the enlisted men with Pershing to visit Buckingham palace. His Majesty was honored.

The Poison of German Intrigue

—Wilson's Antidote

German intrigue in America as well as in Russia, in the form of veiled peace proposals, which, to use the words of President Wilson, "aim to deceive all those throughout the world who stand for the rights of peoples and the self-government of nations," is the subject of the leading article in this week's LITERARY DIGEST, dated June 23d.

The article, using the President's note to the Russian people and his Flag Day address as a basis, makes very clear just what America is fighting for and the peace that must come. It throws the light of public opinion in this country, as shown by the newspaper press, upon the President's words, and shows that they are not only a warning to the Russians to avoid the fatal error of deserting the Allies, but, in the opinion of the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times, they are "also a warning to Pro-German neutrals and to Pro-Germans in this country." The article also gives answer to those who favor the making of a separate peace by Russia.

Among other topics of almost equal interest and importance which are treated in this issue of the "Digest," are:

"We Have Tasted Liberty and It Has Made Us Drunk"

All News-Roads Lead At Last to "The Digest"

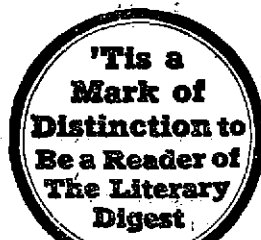

Did you ever stop to think of the path your news travels to reach you, of how an event no sooner happens than the story of it speeds away, by word of mouth, by telegraph or telephone, is flashed through submarine cables or flies free in air on the wings of the wireless to the office of some newspaper, where it is translated into cold type, rushed through the presses, and hurried forth again by motor-car, by boat, by rail, on horseback, and, in some remote districts, on camel-back, on sledges, or by canoe, to reach your door?

All this is wonderful enough, but when you reflect that the published news of the whole world comes to the editors of THE LITERARY DIGEST, and is put by them through an impartial sieve, which retains only the choicest part, uncolored and unchanged in the least degree, then your wonder grows. For your use and benefit the pith of all the world's events is concentrated without bias in the columns of THE DIGEST, week by week. Be advised and avail yourself to-day of this greatest of modern news-recorders.

CURRENT COMMENT

(Shelbyville Republican)

The intent of these letters is to "square" Finly Gray's course and his record in the congress. It is very clearly noted that the letter to President Wilson makes inquiry as to Mr. Gray's support "DURING THE PAST TWO YEARS." There is no man in the whole United States who can make the English language say what it does not mean in an easier manner than Woodrow Wilson. He is the greatest expert on earth in that craft. Note his reply to the letter: He ignores the question concerning Gray's support during "the past two years" and in his reply says "he has given the present administration the most generous and cordial support."

The facts are that President Wilson is absolutely silent as to the attitude of Finly Gray during the "last two years" and in order to avoid giving a direct answer as to Gray's record President Wilson says Gray has given the PRESENT ADMINISTRATION his cordial support.

Finly Gray has had nothing to do with the PRESENT ADMINISTRATION except as a citizen. His term in congress expired as the "present administration" began. President Wilson has never answered the question and did not answer at all the question put square to him in the letter sent by Bent Wilson. The letter of President Wilson has been photographed and is being sent to the voters of the district by thousands with the hope that its misleading phraseology will deceive the men of the district into voting for Gray. There is no other interpretation that can be placed on these two letters. The reply of President Wilson is as plain as day. He says "he has given the present administration the most generous and cordial support."

Senreco

THE double-service tooth paste, keeps teeth clean AND GUMS HEALTHY.

Keeping the gums healthy and the mouth sweet is very important to health; more teeth are lost through the loosening of the tissue that holds the teeth in place than from decay.

Dental science to-day demands that a tooth paste must keep the gums healthy as well as clean the teeth.

Senreco was formulated to meet this requirement. Hundreds of dentists are prescribing and using Senreco because they have found that it does measure up to that standard.

SENRECO IS A WONDERFUL CLEANSER.

In addition to its remedial properties Senreco is a wonderful cleanser; acts directly on the mucin film, the basis of tartar; leaves the mouth cool and clean-feeling. As some one has expressed it—Senreco gives one a new idea on mouth cleanliness.

Get a tube to-day at your druggist or toilet counter—enjoy the healthy, cleanly feeling its use gives your mouth and gums. Notice how brilliantly white Senreco makes your teeth. It performs this two-fold service for you and yet costs no more than the ordinary, old-fashioned tooth paste that simply cleans the teeth and leaves a pleasant taste—25 cents for a large 3 ounce tube.

GIRLS ORDERED TO STAY AWAY

Gen. Glenn Says Those Who Come to Fort Simply Looking for Fellows Had Better Remain Away

THEY ARE BOTHER TO MEN

Goes on Theory That "He Travels Fastest Who Travels Alone" And Thus Came Order

(By United Press.)

Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., June 23.—Life for the army officers in charge of the training camp at Ft. Harrison would be a comparative pleasure, if it wasn't for the girls.

When the 5,200 men gathered here six weeks ago to start their officers training work; approximately as many girls flocked to the camps on Saturday afternoons, Sundays and other holidays. They came alone, or in bunches, some of them looking for a Tom, Dick or Harry who used to go to school with a friend of a friend of theirs or with some other excuse about as good. If they didn't happen to find Tom, why Dick and Harry would do just as well for them.

Finally in order to stop the great mobilization of girls at the camp, Gen. Glenn, commander, issued strict orders forbidding any girls to come on the reservation unescorted. The general gave all sorts of publicity to the order, in the papers, to the men and repeated it at every opportunity but the girls still keep flocking to the colors every nice afternoon.

Real girl friends and relatives are welcomed to the camp by the army officers but they believe that the men will be able to do their work better if the other girls will stay away.

They believe in the theory that "he travels fastest who travels alone," especially when it comes to the game of war.

POINTS TO GRAY'S RECORD IN HOUSE

Senator James E. Watson at Greenfield Recalls Democratic Candidate's Stand

WAS AGAINST PREPAREDNESS

Stand by the Government, Is The Appeal, He Says, Because Presidents Come and Go

Greenfield, Ind., June 23.—Speaking in the Circuit Court room filled with people last night, United States Senator James E. Watson, assailed the record of the Democratic administration, the record of Finly H. Gray, while in the Lower House from the Sixth District, and made a strong plea for the election of Richard N. Elliott to succeed the late D. W. Comstock.

Senator Watson recalled the depression of 1914 with the enforced idleness of factory workers and the effects of the Underwood tariff, which made necessary the levying of a war tax in time of peace to make up a deficit in the treasury caused by the removal of the tariff. He also recalled that Gray voted for this measure, and he declared that Gray also had failed to vote for preparedness measures while in Congress.

"It has been the plea of the Democrats to 'stand by the President,'" he said, "but I believe it is a better cry to stand by the government, for Presidents come and go. Look to the government and the flag, no matter who is President," he admonished.

The speaker said that Richard N. Elliott, the Republican nominee, would stand by the nation in the present crisis and would do his part now and with the Republicans in the constructive program which will be necessary for "after-the-war" period.

Senator Watson was introduced by William A. Hough, local attorney, who was defeated for the Republican nomination by Mr. Elliott. Frequent bursts of applause interrupted the speaker and he was accorded a hearty welcome everywhere.

Mrs. Vanderbilt cited her own experience in Paris at the beginning of the war when her first impulse was to close the Vanderbilt Dispensary to women and children and devote it to the care of wounded soldiers.

"On second thought," she said, "I realized that would be a mistake just because everybody was doing the same thing. I never regretted my more mature judgment. In a short time our attendance increased from 115 to 250. I believe we saved any number of the future citizens of France by simply thinking twice and sticking to our original work."

he flourished a printer's rule, the in-ignia of the trade.
"The editor of your democratic paper," he continued, "imposed on your intelligence when he called me

a traitor and then printed what I said. What I said was that there was only one thing by which we could justify our entrance into the war, and that was to defend America's right. I said that it was not up to the United States to force democracy onto the world; that it was better that by our proof that democracy could defend itself, we made the ideal example which should enlist the devotion of the world to the cause of democracy. That was the substance of my thought.

"I said it then in the senate, I say it now and I will repeat it again and again. It is none of our business what form of government any nation has so long as that nation respects the rights of other nations. It will be as much of a task to combat the enemy at home as abroad."

Senator Harding defended the universal military service law as honest and just and then returned to the discussion of newspaper criticism. He recalled that democratic publishers were deeply stirred, apparently, when a republican saw fit to criticize the president, but that none of them commented on the fact that a republican minority made possible the defeat of the president's newspaper censorship bill. They did not criticize republicans for opposing the president in this respect he said.

"You may wonder why congress has almost abdicated its power as one of the three essential branches of government," he continued, "It is because congress is becoming a sort of rubber-stamp affair. I am not slamming the president. I have been standing by the president myself."

Senator Harding recalled how Bryan visited his home in the last election and said Harding was a decent fellow, but that the people could not afford to elect him because the president wanted men who would support him. Senator Harding said that he was in Washington supporting the president when Bryan was resigning as secretary of state. I am a republican and a partisan, but I am an American first, he declared.

Senator Harding recalled also that after Bryan had resigned a former republican president was standing by Wilson when he offered to take a volunteer regiment of 100,000 men to France. He said he was not criticizing the president, but that he was sorry the president had not seen fit to accept Roosevelt's offer, because if Roosevelt had led four divisions to France, he would have taken cheer to the allies and would set aflame the American spirit and popularized the war as nothing else would have done.

Senator Harding then showed by repeated examples how the republican minority in the house and senate had made possible the passage of the president's war measures in spite of the opposition of the president's own leaders. He cited the resolution to arm American merchant vessels; the McLeMORE resolution to keep Americans off the sea; the war resolution and the conscription bill, all of which would not have been passed but for republican support and leadership.

"The president would be a broken reed tonight," he said with some vim, "were it not for the republican minority in the house and senate."

In conclusion, Senator Harding showed the development of the United States a maritime nation until she became the leading one in the world, and how later, due to the continued agitation of the democratic party against ship subsidy, maritime interests had declined until before the war opened the greatest exporting country in the world was shipping practically all of its goods in foreign bottoms.

"A few days since," he continued, "because of the decline of the merchant marine due to democratic opposition, we had to appropriate $700,000,000 of the people's money to build ships to carry food to our soldiers and allies."

Senator Harding showed the great need of an adequate tariff after the war and the necessity of electing a man who believes in those principles.
